BACKGROUND

As a Founding Partner, Trevor Slogrove is widely acknowledged as a leader in the Structural Engineering and Project Management field. For over 30 years, Trevor has dedicated himself to the pursuit of advancing his knowledge and skills in engineering and project management. This dedication has helped STP Consultants emerge as a leader in its sector, servicing clients including some of Australia's largest ASX listed firms, departments from all levels of government, and small to mid-sized firms across Queensland and up to Papua New Guinea. Trevor's practical approach and focus on building strong client relationships has become synonymous with the STP Consultants' brand.

Trevor graduated with an Honours Degree from James Cook University in 1986 and took up a position in Cairns before returning to Townsville four years later where he gained invaluable experience in Civil Construction with Project Services. In 1992, Trevor formed his own practice, Progress Consultants and soon expanded to offices in Cairns, Townsville and Ayr. In 2002 the BMD Group acquired Progress Consultants and Trevor was appointed as Northern Australia Manager and National Business Development Manager of the BMD Group. 2002 was also the year Trevor graduated with an MBA degree. Having planned and initiated his own developments, Trevor possesses an insight into the development process from the viewpoint of all stakeholders.

Registered as a National Professional Engineer, Trevor is also a current member and past local chairman of the Institution of Engineers Australia and is a member of the Urban Development Institute of Australia. Trevor has had a wide range of experience delivering projects in remote area communities. He frequently liaises with and utilises local consultants and contractors to make sure the project is delivered in a timely manner.

In 2009 and 2010, as part of the Federal Government's Building the Education Revolution Program (BER), Trevor and his team were actively involved in community and institutional projects in the remote communities of Badu, Horn and Murray Island in the Torres Strait, Bamaga in the northern peninsula area of Queensland, as well as Doomadgee and Mornington Island in the Gulf of Carpentaria.

Trevor is currently completing numerous projects in PNG in conjunction with our Cairns office. Trevor has multi visit visas in place in PNG to accommodate construction administration and site inspection requirements. He personally visits the site when and if necessary.
